This section on the form is possibly your only real opportunity to influence admissions tutors and convince them that you are a real potential asset to the institution.

Use your personal statement to make the most of what you have done and SELL YOURSELF!!!

HOW DO I START MY PERSONAL STATEMENT?

START BY BREAKING
YOUR PERSONAL
STATEMENT DOWN
INTO FIVE HEADINGS

1. WRITING ABOUT YOUR CHOICE OF COURSE

YOU NEED TO STATE WHY YOU HAVE CHOSEN YOUR PARTICULAR COURSE

‘Reading Law appeals to me because I am keen to gain a greater insight into the workings of the English legal system and its enforceable rules. The study of Law is concerned with every aspect of human activity and so will enhance my understanding of society and how it functions.’

2. WHAT SKILLS YOU HAVE ACQUIRED THROUGH YOUR CURRENT PROGRAMME OF STUDY AND WORK EXPERIENCE

‘A’ levels in Media, Sociology and Law have enhanced my oral expression and writing skills. They have further enabled me to develop analytical skills and present a well reasoned argument which I feel will be particularly useful for my course at university.

‘Work placement at a solicitors firm has given me a practical insight of the Law and its application. This involved working effectively with people at all levels and working independently using my own initiative in an often demanding environment. As well as teaching me the importance of diplomacy, thinking on your feet and learning from others, this placement has confirmed my desire to enter the legal profession.’

3. WRITE ABOUT YOU'RE EXPERIENCE/WHAT YOU'VE DONE IN COLLEGE AND ABOUT YOUR EXPERIENCE /ACTIVITIES OUTSIDE OF COLLEGE.

MENTION NUS, TUTOR REPRESENTATIVE, MARKETING, INDUCTION ETC.

‘As a student ambassador I am an active member of the sixth form and have been selected to represent the college in discussions with potential students from feeder schools. This involved explaining my social and academic experiences as a student at Regent College. As a volunteer for a local community initiative, I assist young children with their reading and homework. I have found this extremely rewarding and would relish the opportunity to be involved in similar community work whilst at university.’

4. SPARE TIME/ INTERESTS/SPORTS

‘My reading interests include science fiction, poetry and current affairs. I am a keen sportsperson and have played tennis competitively from a young age. I enthusiastically take part in the annual Hindu Marathon in which I also raise money for charity.’

‘I enjoy travelling, this has fuelled my interest in world cultures and religions and has given me a desire to expand my knowledge and horizons.’

5. CONCLUDING STATEMENT

Use one or two sentences to finish off.

'I am confident that I will make a valuable contribution to University life and that I will find studying Law both stimulating and rewarding.'
